

Types of Donations

Whole Blood

Most common method. Whole blood is collected from donor via phlebotomy.

Apheresis

Removes only desired component from donor's blood (i.e. platelets).

Autologous

The recipient is the donor.

Directed Donations

Donors are friends and relatives with a compatible blood group.

American Red Cross
Together, we can save a life